

Students will take weekly classes in Art, Computer & Technology, Media & Library, Music, Physical Education, and Spanish.

Art -Fourth grade art seeks to further study the elements of art and design with various media and techniques while allowing the student to expand his/her creative development. Students are encouraged to develop problem--solving and critical--judgment skills, as well as aesthetic appreciation of art, in order to enhance life development. Art teaches students to further understand the role of art in our society and in other cultures, and provides the instruction, guidance, and opportunity for students to create art from observation, personal experiences and imagination.

Computer- Students will learn to be productive in a digital world by solving problems and participating in projects that utilize technology in their creation. While integrating the technology with the curriculum, students will demonstrate mastery of the National Technology Standards at their grade level. Keyboarding skills are taught beginning in third grade and continue through fifth grade, both in the computer lab and on Chromebooks in the classroom.

Media- Media class introduces the students to proper book care and appropriate behavior in the Media Center. Our instructors help them know how to find information in the Media Center and use it appropriately. Media seeks to instill in students a love of books and appreciation of stories and literature.

Music- Students will experience a wide variety of vocal exploration, listen and move to a myriad of musical genres, play a variety of instruments, explore and demonstrate iconic and traditional notation, and perform at a handful of programs throughout the school year.

PE- SCPS uses the CrossFit program. Students are taught constantly varied functional movements that require strength, speed, balance, and agility. These movements are taught from developmental progressions of novice to expert with emphasis on form in a way that fosters joy through activity.

Spanish- Our Spanish program exposes children to Spanish vocabulary, songs, and conversation that is appropriate for fifth graders. It also introduces Hispanic culture.
