

Text: Harcourt's "Science"

Third Grade Science exposes students to the wonder of plants and animals and their interactions through a combination of experiments, use of the textbook, research projects, and observation of the world around them. Students will learn more about God and His handiwork through observing and studying His creations. Students will see God's perfect plan for us while studying how wonderfully made His plants and animals are and how perfectly they are able to balance each other's needs.
